Website Information

Magnetic Attraction website acknowledges our testimonials from persons who have used the our magnetic products. These testimonials represent the opinion of the individual person and their own experiences. Magnetic Attraction cannot be held responsible if you do not achieve the results as other individuals have, as results will vary from person to person.

You understand that we have provided this information in good faith and that you understand that magnetic therapy is to be used as a complementary addition to any medication that your doctor has subscribed to you. Any changes that you wish to make ie: reduction of your medication due to the fact that you are experiencing less pain or symptoms, must always be referred through your medical practitioner or health professional. We do not advocate that you use magnetic products instead of any medication that you are using, although some clients have been able to minimise or stop taking their pain killing medication etc AFTER CONSULTING THEIR DOCTOR.

Personal Conditions

All information supplied on this website to both users and members is a guide only. The information does not replace medical advice and results may vary from person to person. Medical advice is recommended by us before you undergo any medication changes including using magnetic products. If you are unfit, unwell or are breastfeeding, pregnant, suffer medical symptoms, have an existing ailment, please seek medical advice before undertaking the use of magnetic products . If you experience any discomfort or adverse symptoms or reactions, we advise you to stop using the magnetic products and seek medical attention.

Dis-ease or pain is often the body warning us of a more serious situation or possibly a mis-alignment, we advise that you also consult your medical or healthcare practitioner to address the situation. As magnets often relieve the pain or symptoms, you may be covering up a condition that requires further investigation or treatment. We strongly advise all of our customers to seek further advise regarding these symptoms prior to the use of any magnetic product.

Any concerns with your health and treatment should be discussed with your doctor.
